

4. Information and signposting

What we said we would do

Improve the way we communicate with autistic people and their families

Provide easily accessible information about autism

Improve information and signposting

Make it easier for people to know how to access appropriate services and support

What we did

Made information on support and activities in communities available online

Made more information available in libraries on autism and tools to help people with autism

Made libraries more autism friendly

Reduced the number of referral points for families of children and young people with autism

What we still need to do

Involve autistic people more closely in developing communications
