

Preparing for Adulthood

North Yorkshire Learning Disability
Partnership Board

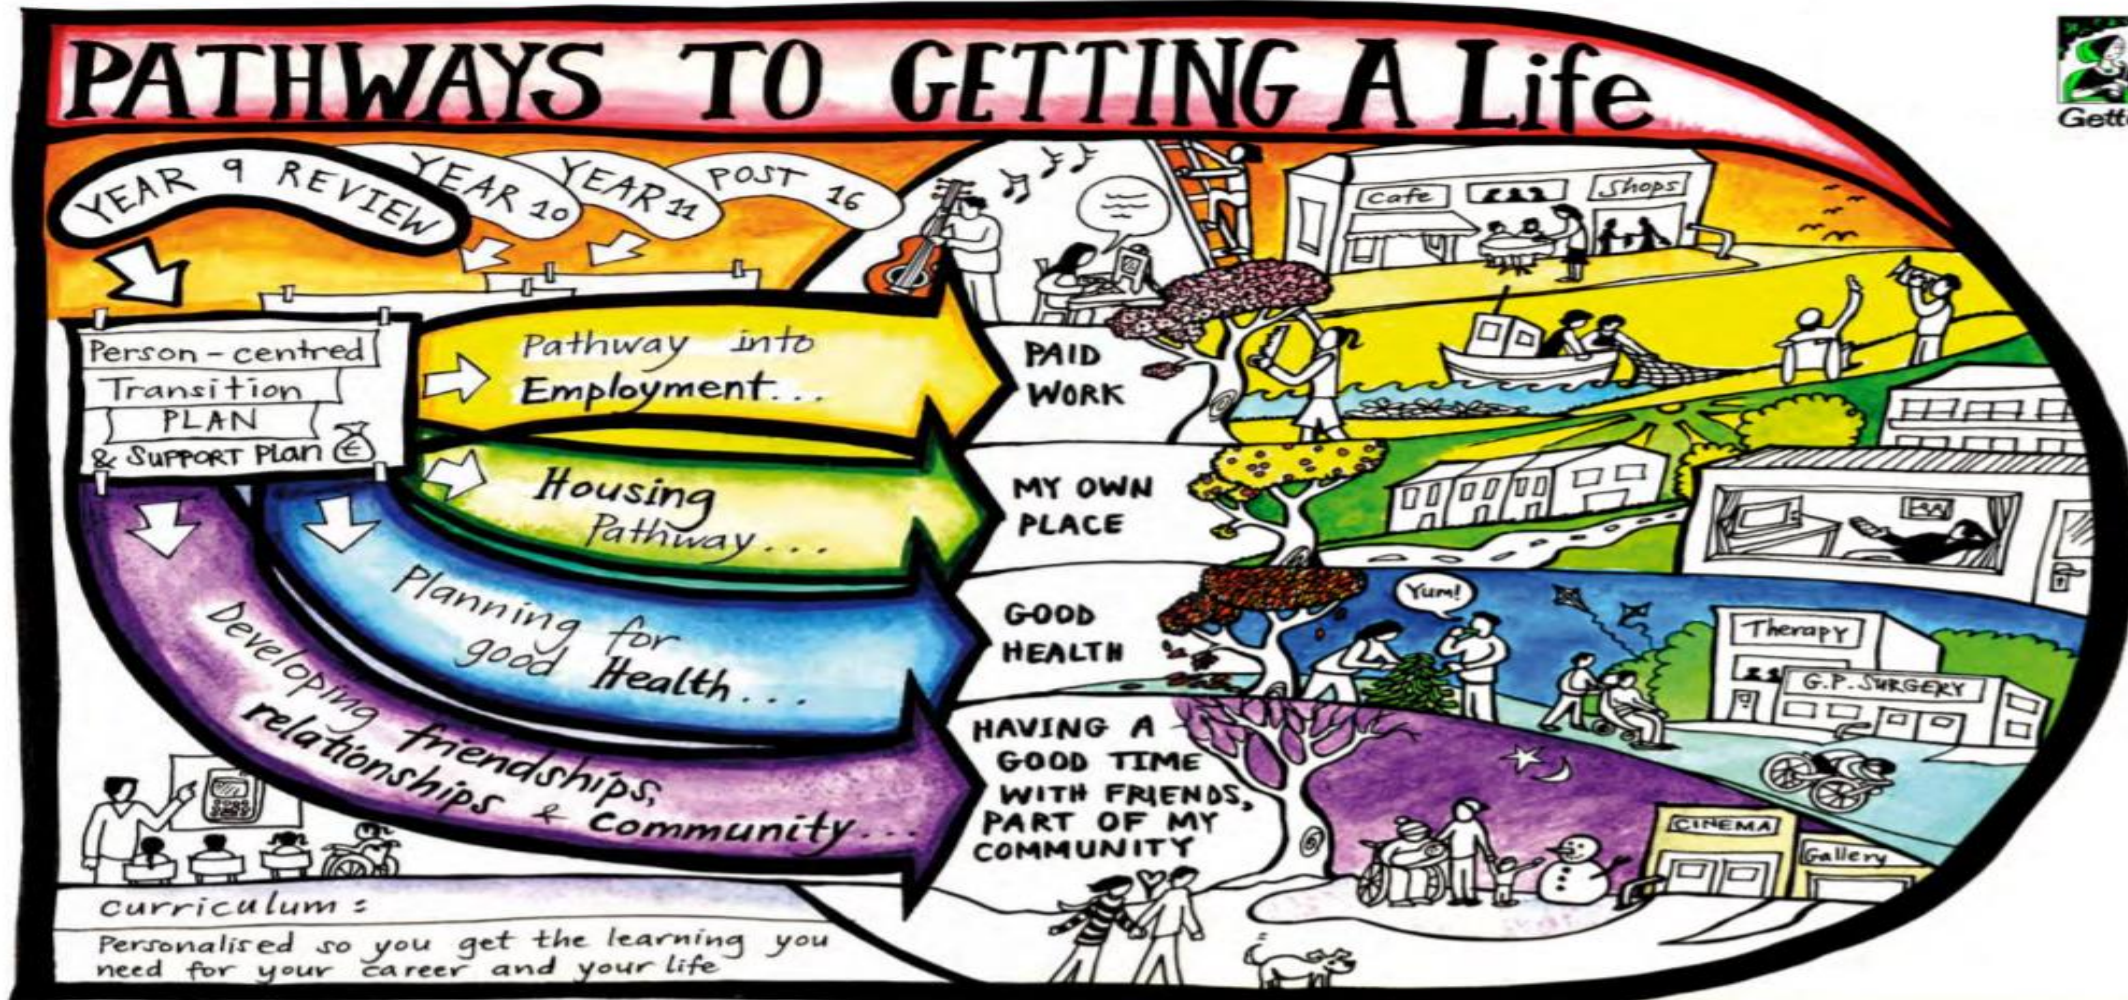

March 2019

What is 'transition'?

- It is about supporting a young person and their family when they move from Children's social care services to Adult social care services.
- We are making sure that transition follows the Big Ideas of Preparing for Adulthood.

Preparing for Adulthood – the Big Ideas

- Children's social care and Adults social care teams are working together to make transition work better for young people

- We are making a new transition pathway for young people
- A pathway is a name for the journey we go on together to prepare young people for adulthood
- We will start using the new pathway from June 2019

Aims of the new pathway

- The new pathway will make the experience for young people and their families better
- It will make the move from Children's services to Adult services easier, more supportive and gradual.
- Young people will have the right support, from the right person at the right time.
- It will have a person centred approach

What will be different?

Children's assessment to be completed at 16

Adult services becoming involved with young person and family from 16

Between 16-18, Children and Adult services work together to support young person

Adult assessments and support plans will be completed from 17

Children's services to end their involvement after 18

SEN remain involved until the Education Health and Care Plan is ended.

When will the changes happen?

We will start using the new pathway from June 2019

We will make the changes slowly, until April 2021

We will keep talking to young people and staff to make sure the new pathway is working how we all want it to.

- We will have a Transitions Board to make sure the new pathway is working well
- Managers from Children's and Adult social care will be on the Transitions Board
- The Board will check with young people and families to make sure the new pathway is working
- The Directors of Children's and Adults social care will check to make sure it is working.
